Membership News

Not often an opportunity is available for members of PLSG to meet one another. Well, the New York Stamp Show in 2016 offers such an opportunity. On Sunday, May 29 at 11 A.M. in Room 1E12 we may meet face-to-face. We have this room for one hour. A short presentation will be given and also information about membership and projects. You will be very much welcome!

German Feldpost

Darus Greathouse

Part 4

It has been awhile since I wrote about German Feldpost labels (#110, pp. 10-14). Material on this subject is not that easy to find. I would like to thank Bas for finding some of this material and making it available to me.

As I obtain more data, I can see that I will have to re-write all the parts and merge what I have into a more logical order. If you can send scans of anything that would add to this subject, it would be helpful.

In the meantime, here is an up-date of additional material that I did not have before.

Here are the only two blue Feldpost labels that I have seen. Since they are off cover, little is known about them.

4.1: Dark blue, inner frame has round corners, crosses touch the inner frame and the e cross bar is at an angle. The letters are smaller, rount with blue dashed cut lines.

4.2: Light blue, corners of inner frame is indented, crosses do not touch. Cross bar of e is parallel, the letters are larger, rount with blue dashed cut lines.

4.3: red, thin white inner frame w/ round corners, 11.5 pf., on postcard dated 1.8.17, looks as label in part 3: date 11.6.15, except bar of e is parallel, not angled.

4.4 and 4.5: the inner oval frame is made of dots and dashes. The background is composed of thin white parallel lines.

4.4: post carddate not readable, rount. Letters thicker than 4.5

4.5 postcard dated 28.7.17, rount. With red dashed cut lines, thin letters

4.6: cover dated 2.7.41, label 13x27 mm, 2 white inner frames, round corners, thin inner frame, faint red edges, impf.

4.7: cover dated 5.7.41, label is 15x49 mm, impf. 1 mm white frame, with red edge, double vertical back of F, unusual letters.

4.6: cover dated 2.7.41, label 13x27 mm, 2 white inner frames, round corners, thin inner frame, faint red edges, impf.

4.9: 1 mm red frame, 9x41.5 mm white background, 12 pf. Black letters 4x37 mm, w/o serifs

By the way, I (BK) came across a Michel catalogue about Germany Third Reich - Field Post & Official Mail. Unfortunately in German language: Michel, Handbuch-Katalog Deutsche Feldpost 1937-1945, 1991, 3. Auflage, 390 S.

4UK.x: United Kingdom Feldpost cancels

4UK.1: 3x77 mm red ink ,On Her Majesty's Service, Field office cancel 15, date not readable. Code on cover reads NO. 26-127.

'ERMAESSIGTE GEBÜHR' = reduced postage

4UK.2: OHMS official cover dated June 12, 1980, with Forces Post Office cancel.

Feldpost Other than German Material

4Swi.x: Switzerland Feldpost Labels

4Swi.1 On Switzerland cover dated 1943, orange paper, label printed: Feldpost Interlaken, back stamped 10.1.43, with Feldpost 13, D. Camp. Cancel.

4Swi.2 On Switzerland cover dated (back-stamped Sept. 30, 1939, (Feldpost 6 Division cancel) Label is printed: Feldpost P. camp on orange paper.

Two aspects of collecting postal labels

Bas Kee

I believe that collecting postal labels has two aspects:

- 1) Understanding the use of a particular type of label. In other words: what is the functional meaning of a label; what contribution does it make to the processing of a message from sender to addressee by the postal service? This is only apparent on a postal item, like a cover, parcel card, etc. But for the understanding of the purpose of a particular type of label, the type itself is irrelevant: having seen one air mail label, you have seen them all.
- 2) collecting varieties of a particular type of label, like collecting air mail labels, registration labels and so on. For this second aspect, a catalogue is helpful, but the functional meaning as noted in the first aspect is absent therein. Therefore the two belong together.

I would like to illustrate both aspects with an example because of the different types of labels on it. First, the use of these labels need to be understood or explained. Then I will show some different types of one of these labels.

The example is a parcel card from 1929, some time ago. Today, it would look very different, but the functions have not changed much.

There are a lot of different labels: what do they mean?
 In issue #117 some attention was given to V-registration labels for insured mail. In my example the sender sends a parcel to Switzerland and wishes to insure the content, valued at 14 guilders, as is written on the parcel card.

Not only on the parcel card but also on the parcel itself should be indicated that it is insured. Therefore a combination of a large and a small label was available. Unfortunately, wrappings of parcels are almost always destroyed and copies of the large label are mint.

Were it a letter instead of a parcel, the letter must be registered. But according to the Dutch postal regulations in the relevant period, parcels could not be registered. Nevertheless, the parcel has to be identified in the processing and a label for providing this identification is attached. It says: parcel number 93 in the post office of The Hague; the address of the sender is also in The Hague.

The label to the left signifies the following: the sender has been earlier received the parcel from another country. The parcel was meant to be sent forwarded to another country. The Dutch recipient-sender may avoid paying taxes because of the transit and this is administered by a particular tax document. When sending the parcel abroad, it must be clearly indicated that this particular document is attached to the parcel. That is the function of this label.

What was said about the combination of a large and small value label applies in the same way for the document label as you can see.

This next label, only in the international postal language, notes that the sender is paying for any taxes which the addressee otherwise have to pay on arrival. In my example, however, it is still not completely clear on the parcel card what the sender wishes, because he should choose between paying all taxes (tous droits) or only customs charges (droits de douane seulement). In the latter case the addressee has to pay for the postal handling determining whether any customs charge is due. (See also #114, Dutch duty labels). The difference between these possibilities is also clear on the Swiss marking placed on the arrival of the parcel in Switzerland:

For 'franc de droits' labels again there is a large and small version.

There are four possible dues:

- 1) Zoll = customs charges (import duties etc.)
- 2) Monopol (I'm not sure what this means)
- 3) Stat. Gebühr = a fee for maintaining statistics, this is a fixed amount, independent from weight and value of the parcel
- 4) Zollbehold = handling by the postal service

In this marking says the Franc de droits (all taxes paid) but the addressee nevertheless has to pay the statistics fee. (In other countries, some kind of form is used instead of a marking, see #116, "More about duty labels".)

The last element to be explained is the postage: 1.05 guilders. This, however, is not so simple. There are four determining factors:

- 1) Within the relevant period a standing charge of 0.15 cents per parcel is due;
- 2) for insurance somewhere between 0.05 and 0.10 cents has to be paid, depending on the value declared. Suppose the fee is in our case 0.05 cents.
- 3) the amount for postage is depending on weight, till 1 kilo it is 0.65 cents
- 4) the amount to be paid for 'franc de droits' I cannot explain because I'm not sure whether any customs charge is due or not, and I don't know the amount for customs handling by the Swiss postal service.

Here are matters for further research.

The second aspect of collecting postal labels consists of collecting varieties of the different labels we discussed. For instance varieties of franc de droits (and I must admit that I know only labels from European countries).

I have tried to sum up an overview of these 6 covers. While I am not trying to anyone how or what to buy, I have found that if I pass on an item(s), I am almost sorry afterwards that I did so. Also not meaning to sound greedy, if there is more than one item of interest, take your time, and review each of the group. It may be wise to buy all of the items, for varieties that are worthwhile to share with others.

I obtained six brown (81x131 mm) covers with On His Majesty's Service printed on the flap side (one on the non-flap side) of the envelope. See Fig. 1, for sample.

All six covers, regardless of the instructions on each label, were opened by cutting, neatly along one edge. Since they were official mail, there was no postage seen. Each had an United Kingdom Field Post circular cancel, with an indicated location number (340) and date.

All six covers indicate that they were sent to MFO Depot or RTO, Hamburg-Altona, BAOR 3. Four of the covers had additional Certified cancels of some kind.

Three of the covers have the labels with white paper. They were dated one as 1954, and two from 1953, usage. They had fieldpost numbers of 240, 414 (back stamps also 328), and one was not readable. To date, two reference numbers were noted, ending in 8000M/4-52. The larger printed reference number is in serifed letters (Fig. 3) and the other reference number is in smaller block print (Fig. 4).

The three covers with labels of brown paper, were all used in 1954, and had Field Post Offices of 414, 774, and 909. The same reference type was used on these labels, to date.

These labels are not what PLSG normally looks at, but I do believe that they meet the definition of postal labels, and are interesting to me. I am open to any other information on these labels or any other labels (that are not main stream) but that may have caught your fancy.

Question

Milt Keiles is asking for information: who can identify the city mentioned in this R-marking?

Google says the language is Maltese but I can't find any city or town by that name in Malta. I can't quite make out the next to last letter, therefore three possible options:

MÄNTIÄ or MÄNTLÄ or MÄNTTÄ

Any help or further information is very much appreciated. (see masthead how to contact him)

Auction

I have gone from Windows 7 to 8.1. Until I get used to 8.1 (or 10 in the near? future), I have to pass on the offer of un-limited scans of lots, until further notice.

LET IT NOT BE THE END OF OUR AUCTIONS. PLEASE BRING NEW MATERIALS

That's all Folks!

Closing date: december 20, 2015

1. PLSG Postal Bid Auctions are restricted to PLSG members in good standing.
2. Bids must reach Postal Auctioneer no later than 7 pm on closing date.
3. Lots are sold at one increment over next highest bid per schedule below. Earliest bid prevails in case of ties.
4. Notification with invoice will be made as soon as possible. Payment due on receipt. Prompt refund made for lots returned for just cause.
5. Owners are charged 10% of amount realized, 5% buyer's premium added to help defray costs of operations.
6. Members are urged to send their excess material to Postal Auctioneer for inclusion in forthcoming sale.
7. Material submitted is at owner's risk. Every reasonable precaution is taken for its protection but neither Auctioneer nor PLSG may be held liable for damage or disappearance.
8. Consignors must describe each lot and set reserves. Auctioneer will confirm descriptions and edit as needed.
9. Abbreviations used are those in standard philatelic practice.
10. Remittances should be made to the Postal Auctioneer by name.
11. A list of "Prices Realized" will be published in succeeding issues of the Bulletin.
